

Working with Interpreters Workshop

Did you know?

- More than 75 languages are spoken in Tasmania
- Access to information and services is essential to the successful settlement of migrants
- Anti-discrimination legislation and state and federal policies make it clear that organisations should offer professional interpreters as part of their service
- Government bodies are legally bound to offer interpreting services

This 3 hour workshop will explore:

- Skills and strategies for working with interpreters, both on-site and telephone
- Policies governing the use of professional interpreters
- Why and when professional interpreters are needed
- Scenario-based case studies

Who should attend?

All staff who provide customer, client or patient services or information to the public.

Co-facilitated by a NAATI accredited interpreter

For more information or to register interest in attending this training, contact training@mrchobart.org.au

Funded by the Australian Government Department of Health under the name Programme of Assistance for Survivors of Torture and Trauma, by the Department of Human Services and by the Department of Social Services. Visit www.dss.gov.au for more information. Supported by the Crown through the Department of Health and Human Services.

Venue

KGV Sports & Community Centre, Glenorchy